UNSTARRED QUESTION NO:4117
ANSWERED ON:14.12.2001
CRUSHING CAPACITY OF SUGAR MILLS
JAIBHAN SINGH PAWAIYA;SHEELA GAUTAM;SHIVRAJ SINGH CHOUHAN

Will the Minister of CONSUMER AFFAIRS, FOOD AND PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION be pleased to state:

(a) the crushing capacity of the sugar mills at present in each State;

(b) the quantum of the sugarcane crushed during the year 2000-2001, State-wise;

(c) whether the sugar mills are capable of crushing the entire production of sugarcane during the crushing season of the year 2001-02;

(d) if not, the steps being taken by the Government to increase the crushing capacity of these sugar mills; and

(e) the estimated production of sugar cane during the current season?

Answer

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF CONSUMER AFFAIRS, FOOD AND PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION V.SREENIVASA PRASAD)

(a): A statement showing the State-wise installed daily cane crushing capacity of sugar mills in the country is given at Annexure-I.

(b): A statement showing the State-wise sugarcane crushed during the year 2000-2001 is given at Annexure-II.

(c),(d)&(e): The estimated production of sugarcane during the current season 2001-2002 is 2799.6 lakh tonnes. The average drawal of sugarcane by the sugar mills during the season 2000-2001 was 60%. Thus, the cane likley to be utilised by the sugar mills would be 1679.6 lakh tonnes as against 1756.90 lakh tonnes crushed during the season 2000-2001. Hence, the total sugarcane likely to be available for the sugar mills would be less than the total cane crushed by the sugar mills during the season 2000-2001. Therefore, there is adequate capacity for crushing the available cane by the sugar mills.
